CHURCH OF CHRIST

Saying Grace

Learning to count
our blessings

THE SPOTLIGHT

It's a shame that the holiday we set aside to count our blessings and give thanks gets swallowed up in busy-ness! Schedules are changing, relatives are coming (or we're traveling to family) and menus are being set for a meal much larger than we normally prepare. On top of it all, the Christmas season is poised and waiting for us the moment we finish our Thanksgiving meal. Beige Thursday is the name for the trend of stores to open early on Thursday and offer deals to lure in the Black Friday crowd a little earlier. All of that leads us to do everything faster and move on as quickly as possible to the next big thing on our list. But true Thanksgiving needs a little time and maybe even some peace and quiet!

If we truly want to acknowledge God as the giver of our blessings, then we need to worship Him as well. Make plans to worship with us Tuesday night this week. It's a busy week, but you will be better equipped to face it after spending time in worship with your church family. Take a moment on Thursday to share your blessings with those gathered around your table. Perhaps you can let everyone share a blessing. Then offer up a true prayer of Thanksgiving (it might be helpful to do this prayer at a different time then when everyone has a plate full of hot food!). This is a day to acknowledge what is most important in our lives and we shouldn't miss the chance to reflect on our priorities and our hearts.

Speaking of Thanksgiving, the Carter family gets to enjoy Thanksgiving in their brand new home thanks to Habitat for Humanity! The dedication on Friday went well and we were blessed to give them all a Bible and several notes from you. Thank you for the way you love our neighbors!

- David
